3. ENFORCEMENT OF JUDGMENTS IN THE JURISDICTION OF ESTABLISHMENT OF THE COMPANY

The Company is established under the laws of Guernsey.

As a matter of Guernsey law, the choice of English law to govern a document will generally be upheld as a valid choice of law and English law, accordingly, be applied by the Guernsey courts if such documents or any contractual claims thereunder come under their jurisdiction upon proof of the relevant provisions of English law (subject to certain qualifications similar to those applicable under the Regulation (EC) No. 593/2008 of the European Parliament and of the Council on the law applicable to contractual obligations (“Rome I”) and Regulation (EC) No. 1215/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council). Likewise, a Guernsey court may decline to accept jurisdiction in any action where they determine that there is another more appropriate forum.

Guernsey have adopted the Judgments (Reciprocal Enforcement) (Guernsey) Law, 1957 (as amended). Under the Law, a judgment of a Superior Court can be reciprocally enforced by way of registration. Not all judgments given by a superior court can be registered and there are certain qualifications to registration. The Guernsey courts would recognise any final and conclusive judgment under which a sum of money is payable (not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty) obtained against a Guernsey company in a Superior Court if deemed to have jurisdiction in accordance with the principles of private international law as applied by Guernsey law (which are broadly similar to the principles accepted under English law) and such judgment would be sufficient to form the basis of proceedings in the Guernsey courts for a claim for liquidated damages in the amount of such judgment. In such proceedings, the Guernsey courts would not re-hear the case on its merits save in accordance with such principles of private international law.
